A Heap o' Nerf®

Whaddya mean?

What do we mean? Hey, it's Nerf's 25th birthday and we're giving away a Heap o' Nerf and a chance to be in a TV commercial. Your friends have birthdays and what do they ever give you? Wanna pay 'em back for those wedgies? Try blasting 15 Raxorbeast™ sucker darts or launching a Liquidator™ Football and leaving 'em in the dust! Enter our contest and you can! Just send us a picture of yourself with your Nerf stuff. Send us a Nerf proof of purchase too. The judges look at all the pictures, choose the one they like best and dump the whole Heap o' Nerf on some lucky kid. Be creative! That's what the judges look for. Don't just stand there like a bowl of tapioca! Pile 'em up, and strap 'em on. Then grab a camera, say "cheese," and snap away! It's said a picture is worth a thousand words, but what would you do with that? We'll give you a pile of Nerf and put you on TV instead. You lucky dog, you.

Read this!

(It looks boring but it's stuff you gotta know.)

1. To enter: Send a color or black & white photo of you with Nerf products in an original way, with proof of purchase from any Nerf product. Each entry must include one Nerf proof of purchase. MARK'S REMARKS

Halloween's my favorite holiday. In these ever-more politically correct times, I'm surprised that such a pagan celebration is still so popular. For those of you who don't know where your holidays come from, let me clue you in on the Big H. Halloween, or Hallowed Evening, is a combination of two pre-Christian harvest festivals, first celebrated well over a thousand years ago. The first is the festival of Pomona, the Roman goddess of apples and nature's autumnal bounty. The second is the Celtic (that's with a "K" sound not an "S") festival of Samhain, the Celts of Ireland's god of the dead. The idea was that on Halloween, Samhain allowed the spirits of the dead to come out of the netherworld and haunt the land of the living from midnight to sunrise. It was up to all good Celts to both honor their dead and raise a ruckus partying to keep the ghosts from messing with them too much. Both the Samhain and Pomona festivals were celebrated in Ireland around harvest time, and their traditions became intertwined. Halloween was imported to America by Irish immigrants in the mid-1800s and it's been growing in popularity ever since.

So why's this holiday my favorite? I'll discount the candy aspect, and that orange and black is my favorite holiday color scheme. Instead I'll posit no other holiday is quite so joyously paradoxical. How so? First, there is a horde of fanciful creatures associated with Halloween -- ghosts, magical witches (yeah, I know there are real life witches -- don't write me), goblins, demons, monsters and werewolves, to name but a few. By contrast, most other holidays have but one or two fanciful or legendary figures associated with them. Thus the fantasy quotient for Halloween is way higher than for say Independence Day. Second, and contradictorily, it is the most realistic holiday we've got. Most other holidays commemorate something that the majority of us haven't experienced firsthand and never will. Independence Day? Wasn't there in 1776, were you? Christmas? Not my birthday we're celebrating. Thanksgiving? Wasn't there either. But what does Halloween celebrate? In essence -- Death. And try as I might to live a healthy and meaningful life, eventually this is something I'm going to experience. Halloween is a very human response to acknowledging the Great Inevitable -- by partying. So I submit to you that Halloween is both the most fanciful and real holiday we've got.

Halloween is also the holiday most related to the masquerade tradition of our comic book heroes. As a longtime comics fan who's used Halloween as an excuse to deck myself out as a comic book character, I have yet another reason to like it. If you don't want to contribute to the cavities of a minor by handing out trick-or-treat candy, might I recommend passing out some comic books you think might be age-appropriate? Well, whether you're on the giving or receiving end of the bag of goodies, I wish you all to have a very happy holiday.

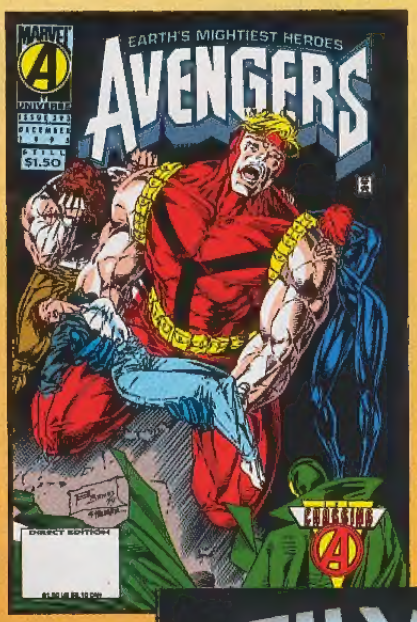
ON SALE THE FOURTH WEEK OF OCTOBER 1995

AVENGERS #393:

Something horrible happens to the Wasp in this October extravaganza! It's brought to you by the writing team supreme, Bob Harras and Terry Kavanagh! Commenting on the art for this ish, editor Ralph Macchio said, "M.C. Wyman has stepped in beautifully, picking up from his work in AVENGERS UNPLUGGED! (Inker) Tom Palmer's work adds a quality to the book, especially when he is doing the coloring. His work defines the look of the Avengers!"



SILVER SURFER #111:

New writer George Perez joins the stellar art team of Tom Grindberg and Bill Anderson, beginning with this October trek to the stars! When the Surfer answers a distress signal from a group of aliens, he learns of the existence of a powerful being named Blackbody who lives on the other side of the galaxy! If the Surfer fails to stop BB, every super-being in the universe will die! Artist Tom G. said Perez's storyline is "refreshing and totally different! We're breaking new ground, and that's always a challenge!"

In the far-flung future, the remnants of Earth's mightiest heroes gather for one last battle against their greatest foes! It's Hawkeye, Hank Pym, the Wasp, and Cannonball against Ultron-59, Kang, the Grim Reaper, Oddball, and several dozen guest-villains! Writer Peter David described the story by saying, "All the strengths and weaknesses of the heroes are played out against a larger struggle to continue their own futures!" Peter raved about the fully-painted Ariel Olivetti artwork, calling it "magnificent!"

Can you match the guitar with the fit of the jeans?

Need clues? Levi's 505 jeans are made long and straight. Levi's 550 jeans are made a little fatter. And Levi's 560 jeans are made even bigger. Make your own choice, play your own music. (And for you drummers out there, don't forget to turn the magazine right-side up or you'll end up back at the table of contents.)

LEVI'S®

WE'LL JUST WORK WITH WHAT'S AT HAND--THAT'S WHAT!
I'M WITH YOU, AISHA!
